

Chris Glasson

Chief Executive Officer (CEO)

Founding member of CSI Energy Group, Chris is a philanthropist, entrepreneur, and investor in people. He started his career in the early 1990s in the UK electrical contracting industry and is now contributing to the sustainable growth of the African continent.

As CEO of CSI Energy Group, Chris has transformed the organisation into a diversified African centric of companies offering sustainable solutions within the energy sector across Africa. Visionary leader, he leads the development and execution of long-term strategies with the goal of increasing shareholder value. His leadership has been instrumental and enabled the Group to deliver a significant number of complex and high specification projects to international standards for clients in the Oil & Gas, Mining, Power & Infrastructure and Renewables sectors.

Throughout his career, Chris demonstrated a strong track record in initiating and leading change, driving results, strengthening operational risk and compliance, and innovating amid a rapidly evolving energy landscape. He is the driving force of sustainable business growth and profitability, continuous improvement, and client recognition for contribution to health and safety awareness, support of community initiatives for children living with HIV, Autism, skin colour disorder and Cancers.

An outspoken advocate for gender equity, Chris aims to drive more diversity and inclusion in the infrastructure industry and is committed to the success of people through successful development of management and improvement plans for the company's entire workforce.
